B52s Strike Installation

Viet Cong Hits Bien Hoa Base

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — B52 bombers of the U.S. Strategic Air Command made another raid on South Viet Nam today, attacking a Viet Cong installation 55 miles south of the big Da Nang air base, a U.S. military announcement said.

The brief announcement said "a number" of B52s made the early morning strike in Quang Tin Province. Thirty planes made up the attack force on most previous B52 raids, but under new security restrictions the number is no longer announced nor is the type and amount of bombs dropped.

The announcement today also did not say where the B52s flew from to make the strike. It was assumed, however, that they came from Guam.

The Viet Cong shelled and mortared the Bien Hoa air base near Saigon early today, damaging 45 U.S. and Vietnamese air force planes and four U.S. military helicopters, a U.S. military spokesman said. He said none of the aircraft were seriously damaged and all would be repaired within three days.

U.S. sources reported earlier that two helicopters were destroyed, but the spokesman did not confirm this.

The spokesman said the guerrillas fired 10 mortar rounds at the base and 22 other shells of 75mm caliber, possibly from a howitzer or recoilless rifle. An official announcement earlier had said 30 to 50 mortar rounds had been fired at the base.

U.S. and Vietnamese casualties were described as light and no deaths were reported. The base's artillery batteries did not return the fire because the mortars apparently were located in a populated area, U.S. sources said.

Last Nov. 1, Viet Cong guerrillas fired 82 mortar shells into the base, destroyed 27 aircraft, killed four U.S. servicemen and wounded 72 others.

Vietnamese military units began a sweep southwest of the base, the direction from which the firing came, and were reported to have captured two Viet Cong suspects. The base is about 12 miles north of Saigon.

Junta Looks At Formula

Dominican Peace Hopes Improve

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The peace-makers in the Dominican Republic were hopeful again today as the civilian-military junta agreed to study changes in the inter-American peace formula.

Junta President Antonio Imbert Barrera said agreement on a final settlement may come "in three days, three months or nine months." The junta said it opposes any changes but its lawyers will study them, leaving the door open for agreement.

The rebels accepted part of the new peace proposal Monday after a 7 1/2-hour session.

The plan, which has been worked out by negotiators of the Organization of American States, calls for disarmament of civilians and a provisional government as the first steps toward general elections in nine months.

Details of the changes in the plan were not disclosed, but it was learned they centered around disarming the civilians in the rebel sector, dismantling rebel command posts and reintegrating into the regular army soldiers who defected to the rebel side.

Private sources said military leaders backing the junta were "favorably disposed" toward the changes.

Rebel opposition continued to the inter-American peace formula made up largely of U.S. personnel. Dr. Jotin Cury, the rebel foreign minister, told newsmen his side has asked the Latin-American governments to have the OAS withdraw the force.

If the OAS doesn't act quickly on this request, he said, the rebels would be willing to sign the peace accord if it included a guarantee that the provisional president could send the troops out of the country.

NEW YORK (AP) — Grace Lines Inc. denied a published report Monday night that it was going out of business because of the 69-day strike of maritime officers.

W. J. McNeill, president of the steamship company, said he categorically denied a story attributed to Maritime Editor Helen Bentley of The Baltimore Sun.

58 U.S. Servicemen Die in Plane Crash

High Court Appeal Filed For Sheppard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1954 slaying of his wife, appealed again today to the Supreme Court to review his trial.

Sheppard's new appeal contends that "pre-trial publicity so prejudiced the community that no fair and impartial jury could have been impaneled."

The filing of the new appeal permits Dr. Sheppard to remain at liberty pending final action by the high tribunal. The U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati last July ruled against his efforts to win a new trial, but permitted him freedom pending the filing of the new appeal.

The Supreme Court in 1956 refused to review Sheppard's trial and his unsuccessful appeal in Ohio state courts. He then began habeas corpus proceedings in federal court, and today's appeal is based on these proceedings.

The Supreme Court likely will announce early in the fall whether it will hear the new appeal.

Sheppard was accused of bludgeoning to death his pregnant wife, Marilyn, at their suburban home near Cleveland. He said she was killed by a "bushy-haired" intruder.

Tax Evasion Charges Get 3 DeNiros

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal judge has found three Youngstown brothers guilty of trying to evade payment of $111,020 in taxes from the estate left by their dead brother Vince DeNiro, a Youngstown rackets figure.

U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti Monday referred to a federal probation department for presentence report on Michael, 44, Frank Jr., 40, and Louis DeNiro, 34.

The government charged the brothers tried to evade paying estate and inheritance taxes on a $500,000 estate left by Vince, who was killed July 17, 1961, by a bomb connected to the engine of his car.

The brothers falsified records to make it appear that $391,627 in taxable assets belonged to them, rather than Vince, the government charged. Defense lawyer James J. Carroll argued the dead brother had no personal estate and was only an employee of a cigarette company his brothers operated.

The maximum penalty for the charge is $10,000 fine, five years in prison or both. The brothers are free on $2,500 bond each.

Bank Prankster's Note Brings Mistaken Arrest

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph B. Finazzo had been making deposits at the Roosevelt Savings Bank in Brooklyn for years, but never before had he gotten as much attention as he got Monday.

When Finazzo, 74, a retired furrier, handed a deposit slip for $100 to the teller things began to happen.

The teller set off a silent alarm, a guard grabbed Finazzo and three police cars roared off to the bank and whisked him off to the station house.

Reporter Says Guard Lacks Men, Equipment

CINCINNATI (AP) — The 37th Infantry Division of the Ohio National Guard is long on morale, but short in manpower and modern equipment, a newsman has concluded.

The division is training at Camp Grayling, Mich., and is to start home this weekend.

After a three-day tour with the 37th, Gene Russell of the Cincinnati Enquirer reported that the division was only two-thirds strength and that much of its equipment was of Korean War vintage.

He added: "Morale appears to be high. For example, one night a company of the 147th infantry from

Gemini Pilots Get Go-Ahead For Fourth Day

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The two Gemini 5 space pilots shivered in their chill space suits part of the night, but warmed up by morning to search for some open fires in Texas. They got a go-ahead today for the fourth day of their scheduled world record eight day mission.

About the same time, Comman Pilot L. Gordon Cooper Jr., logged a new American astronaut record of 98 hours in space, 34 of them on his last Mercury flight two years ago. At 10:12 a.m. (EST) today the

Six NAACP Protesters Given Fines

CINCINNATI (AP) — The number of persons arrested in four weeks of civil rights demonstrations stood at 52 today with the arrest of six people who staged a three-hour sit-in Monday at a union office.

The six members of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People who staged the demonstration at the Plumbers and Gasfitters Union were charged with trespassing. They were released on $100 bond each.

None of the 52 have actually gone on trial, and Municipal Judge Clarence Denning Monday granted an indefinite continuance to the first batch of 16 arrested demonstrators. Their attorneys are trying to have the cases transferred to the U.S. District Court.

The NAACP and the Congress of Racial Equality contend the building trades unions are discriminating against Negroes. Since July 26, they have held demonstrations at a school building site, the offices of a contractors' association and at various union offices.

The unions deny the charge and say very few qualified Negroes have applied for membership.

James Farmer, national chairman of CORE, is scheduled to come to Cincinnati for a mass protest march Thursday night.

Scots Refuse Use Of Official Card

LONDON (AP) — Several Scottish members of Parliament say they will not use the official House of Commons Christmas card this year because it contains an historical reflection on Scotland.

The card depicts a scene commemorating the 700th anniversary of the Simon de Onfort Parliament, showing Alexander III of Scotland paying homage to an English king, says Neil Carmichael, Labor member for Glasgow.

Leaders End Yeman War

CAIRO (AP) — Cairo radio interrupted regular programs today to announce that President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Faisal of Saudi Arabia have agreed to end the Yemen war and "help the Yemeni people preserve their national gains."

Cairo radio and the powerful Voice-of-the-Arabs radio broadcast from Jidda a joint communique heralding that Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Republic will "cooperate in cordiality for the sake of the Arab nation and for bolstering and realizing the common Arab aspiration."

The statement gave no details of the accord, which the broadcasts said Nasser and the Saudi monarch signed.

13 Survivors Hospitalized

Craft Destined For Viet Nam

HONG KONG (AP) — Fifty-eight U.S. servicemen, most of them Marines flying back to Viet Nam after leave, were feared dead today after their transport plane crashed into Hong Kong harbor just after taking off.

"Except for 13 known survivors it now appears all others aboard the flight are dead," said an American official on the scene.

Divers pulled two bodies from the torn and twisted wreckage and said they believed there were at least 20 still inside the fuselage.

Two large cranes lifted the wreckage seven and a half hours after the crash from 30 feet of water and began towing it to the British Royal Air Force dock for removal of the bodies.

Eyewitnesses said a 29-year-old Chinese barge foreman, Ng Kam-shing, and two other barge workers made two trips through burning oil in a small sampan to pull seven of the survivors from the water.

An operations officer at Hong Kong's Kaitak Airport said there were 71 persons aboard — 6 crewmen and 65 passengers — when the C130 Hercules took off for Da Nang and Saigon. He said the manifest indicated two were Navy men and the rest Marines.

He said seven other Marines were supposed to have made the flight but did not show up on time.

The Marines were returning to the Da Nang air base 380 miles north of Saigon after rest and relaxation leave in Hong Kong, a Marine Corps spokesman in Da Nang said.

The survivors were brought to Queen Elizabeth Hospital in Kowloon, across the bay from Hong Kong. Their identities were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Hospital officials said they were suffering from shock, burns and fractured limbs but that none appeared to be in critical condition.

Murdered Civil Rights Worker Receives Rites

KEENE, N.H. (AP) — Jonathan Daniels, the young seminary and civil rights worker slain in Hayneville, Ala., receives the last rites of his faith today in the church where he worshipped as a boy.

As his body lay in state, the clergyman from Atlanta who accompanied the body north to Keene said the Episcopal church in Alabama is denying the goals for which Daniels gave his life.

Scores of townspeople filed past the casket at St. James Episcopal Church.

One of the first to enter the church was the 27-year-old seminarian's mother, Mrs. Phillip Daniels, her eyes filled with tears.

Legion Hears Rusk, Taylor

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Addresses by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and retiring U.S. Ambassador to Viet Nam Gen. Maxwell Taylor highlighted today's activities at the national American Legion convention.

Both speak at the opening of the convention's general business sessions.

Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., addresses the national command's dinner tonight.

The legion will confer distinguished service medals upon the late Herbert Hoover and former Secretary of State James F. Burnes at a nono ceremony.

Herbert Hoover Jr. will accept the award on behalf of the late president. Burnes, also a former governor of South Carolina, is in Portland.

Other recipients of the honor include Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman, John F. Kennedy and Dwight D. Eisenhower.

At the legion parade Monday through downtown Portland, some 10,000 persons participated in a five-hour procession past some 75,000 spectators.

High Court Appeal Filed For Sheppard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath sentenced to life imprisonment in the 1954 slaying of his wife, appealed again today to the Supreme Court to review his trial.

Sheppard's new appeal contends that "pre-trial publicity so prejudiced the community that no fair and impartial jury could have been impaneled."

The filing of the new appeal permits Dr. Sheppard to remain at liberty pending final action by the high tribunal. The U.S. Circuit Court in Cincinnati last July ruled against his efforts to win a new trial, but permitted him freedom pending the filing of the new appeal.

The Supreme Court in 1956 refused to review Sheppard's trial and his unsuccessful appeal in Ohio state courts. He then began habeas corpus proceedings in federal court, and today's appeal is based on these proceedings.

The Supreme Court likely will announce early in the fall whether it will hear the new appeal.

Sheppard was accused of bludgeoning to death his pregnant wife, Marilyn, at their suburban home near Cleveland. He said she was killed by a "bushy-haired" intruder.

Tax Evasion Charges Get 3 DeNiros

CLEVELAND (AP) — A federal judge has found three Youngstown brothers guilty of trying to evade payment of $111,020 in taxes from the estate left by their dead brother Vince DeNiro, a Youngstown rackets figure.

U.S. District Judge Frank J. Battisti Monday referred to a federal probation department for presentence report on Michael, 44, Frank Jr., 40, and Louis DeNiro, 34.

The government charged the brothers tried to evade paying estate and inheritance taxes on a $500,000 estate left by Vince, who was killed July 17, 1961, by a bomb connected to the engine of his car.

The brothers falsified records to make it appear that $391,627 in taxable assets belonged to them, rather than Vince, the government charged. Defense lawyer James J. Carroll argued the dead brother had no personal estate and was only an employee of a cigarette company his brothers operated.

Reporter Says Guard Lacks Men, Equipment

CINCINNATI (AP)—The 37th Infantry Division of the Ohio National Guard is long on morale, but short in manpower and modern equipment, a newsman has concluded.

The division is training at Camp Grayling, Mich., and is to start home this weekend.

After a three-day tour with the 37th, Gene Russell of the Cincinnati Enquirer reported that the division was only two-thirds strength and that much of its equipment was of Korean War vintage.

He added: "Morale appears to be high. For example, one night a company of the 147th infantry from Cincinnati came marching back to their bivouac area at midnight.

"They had been undergoing squad training. They were counting off in loud unison 'hut, two three four.' They had gotten up that morning at 5 a.m. and had trained throughout the day.

"The previous night they had slept in pup tents in cold, all-night rain. Most of their equipment and clothes had gotten wet. The temperature had been in the 40's.

"The same company was up at 5 a.m., the next morning, taking exercises."

The division is one of 15 on the defense department's "low priority" list. This means the 37th will not be among the first units called up in case of national emergency, but it also means the Ohioans will be among the last to trade their M-1 rifles for new M-14s. The same is true of other equipment, from tanks to radio sets.

Many division officers are combat veterans and Russell quoted them as saying privately that some young soldiers tend to forget their basic army training with new equipment after they come to the national guard and have to use old weapons and vehicles.

GIS Renamed Scioto Village

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state's Girls Industrial School at Delaware soon will have a new name and offer an expanded academic and vocational program, the Ohio Youth Commission announced today.

The correctional institution will be known as Scioto Village, effective Sept. 1, and "a more intensive education and vocational program will mark the beginning of a new era," Commissioner William K. Willis said.

Formerly only those in the academic program received credit for their work. Now girls in the vocational division may earn from two to five credits toward high school diplomas, Supt. Malvin B. McClane reported.

The school currently has 450 girls. About 120 will be in the vocational program and 50 in an expanded business education program.

As his body lay in state, the clergyman from Atlanta who accompanied the body north to Keene said the Episcopal church in Alabama is denying the goals for which Daniels gave his life.

Scores of townspeople filed past the casket at St. James Episcopal Church.

One of the first to enter the church was the 27-year-old seminarian's mother, Mrs. Phillip Daniels, her eyes filled with tears.

Daniels, a student at the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge, Mass., was in Hayneville as a civil rights worker, after working in Selma, Ala.

He was killed last Friday by a shotgun blast outside a grocery store, Thomas L. Coleman, 35, a special deputy sheriff and a member of a prominent Hayneville family, has been charged with murder,

But he said "through St. Paul's Church, the Episcopal church in Alabama is denying all that Jonathan Daniels gave his life for."

Junta Looks At Formula

Dominican Peace Hopes Improve

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The peace-makers in the Dominican Republic were hopeful again today as the civilian-military junta agreed to study changes in the inter-American peace formula.

Junta President Antonio Imbert Barrera said agreement on a final settlement may come "in three days, three months or nine months." The junta said it opposes any changes but its lawyers will study them, leaving the door open for agreement.

The rebels accepted part of the new peace proposal Monday after a 7 1/2-hour session.

The plan, which has been worked out by negotiators of the Organization of American States, calls for disarmament of civilians and a provisional government as the first steps toward general elections in nine months.

Details of the changes in the plan were not disclosed, but it was learned they centered around disarming the civilians in the rebel sector, dismantling rebel command posts and reintegrating into the regular army soldiers who defected to the rebel side.

Private sources said military leaders backing the junta were "favorably disposed" toward the changes.

Rebel opposition continued to the Inter-American Peace Force made up largely of U.S. personnel. Dr. Jotin Cury, the rebel foreign minister, told newsmen his side has asked the Latin-American governments to have the OAS withdraw the force.

If the OAS doesn't act quickly on this request, he said, the rebels would be willing to sign the peace accord if it included a guarantee that the provisional president could send the troops out of the country.

GOP Rejects Floater Vote

Reapportionment Issue Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio House Republicans have turned thumbs down on the "floating fraction" provision of a Senate-approved legislative reapportionment proposal.

The GOP - controlled House Rules Committee rejected it at a day long hearing Monday by a 6-4 party line vote.

At the same time, House Speaker Roger W. Cloud, R-Logan, said the committee will meet again next Monday to complete details of a revised proposal which could go to the lawmakers Tuesday, the day they return from a 17-day recess.

Under the reapportionment plan approved by the upper chamber Aug. 3, there would be one House member for each 64,700 Ohioans. The "floating fraction" is the population in excess of the 64,700 ratio.

The Senate proposal calls for the fraction to be multiplied by five because the legislature meets every two years during the 10-year census period used to determine legislative membership. The multiplied fraction determines the extra representation allowed counties having uneven ratios.

House Republican groups have submitted to the Rules Committee a plan calling for one representative for each 55,465 Ohioans, without the floating fraction. That plan would create a 171-member House, compared with present membership of 137. The Senate plan would create a 150-member lower chamber.

The late effort to devise a reapportionment plan, for approval by voters came after many legislative observers labeled it a dead issue. Republicans all but abandoned efforts after defeat in the May primary of a proposal they drew up at the special session last December.

Democrats who favor the "floating fraction" oppose the plan by House Republicans on grounds it would permit population variations too large to comply with federal court order to reapportion the House.

Flight officials considered a mock maneuver for today's plan, but then said they would not perform it. It would have been a maneuver on paper only — with no firing of the jet thrusters.

There was still the possibility of some maneuvering later in the mission.

The astronauts got a "well done" from earth Monday for their 40,000-mile chase after a satellite that didn't exist.

Afterwards, flight officials reported that if the satellite had not been merely a ghost, the spacecraft would have been within 17 miles of it — or, to a point where it would be up to the crew's judgment and ability, rather than computers, to dock with it.

A rendezvous with a 76-pound radar-equipped pod was ditched earlier in the Gemini 5 flight after a power failure on the spacecraft.

Guardsmen Move Fast To Save Life

Two Ohio National Guardsmen, one from Circleville and the other from Columbus, were credited with saving the life of a Michigan boy during the weekend.

The guardsmen are participating in a two-week summer training program at Camp Grayling, Mich. Details of their life-saving were received here today.

David Merriken, 17, Lansing, Mich., was critically injured when a car collided with his motorcycle near the national guard camp.

The story of what happened next was reported by guard officers at Camp Grayling:

AS MERRIKEN lay on the pavement, Sgt. Forrest D. Eastwood, 27, of 215½ N. Pickaway St. and Sp. 4 Warren L. Briggs, 27, of Columbus halted their car and ran to the scene. The guardsmen took emergency first aid measures to halt a heavy loss of blood from one of the boy's injured legs.

A physician stopped to survey the injuries, then obtained an apparatus to administer a saline solution intravenously to the youth.

The boy was placed in a station wagon. A state police trooper drove the makeshift ambulance at high speed to Grayling Mercy Hospital 35 miles away while Eastwood and Briggs attended the boy.

One guardsman held "pressure points" on arteries to halt the blood flow. The other administered the intravenous solution.

"They certainly did a wonderful job. We're very thankful" said Mrs. Helen Blake, a nurse on duty at the hospital.

No Charges Filed For Flag Users

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — City Solicitor Walter T. Thayer said Monday no charges will be filed against two persons who used old U.S. flags as paint drop cloths.

Thayer said the act was thoughtless but that he found neither "intent to desecrate or profane the flags, nor desire to show contempt." The flags, both 35 years old, will be burned Sunday afternoon by the local American Legion post.

Navy Primes Sealab Base

Astronaut Joins Team of Divers

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — After more than a week of technical delays the Navy said it was ready today to lower its Sealab 2 to the ocean floor, where teams of divers will spend up to 45 days working, eating and sleeping at a depth of 210 feet.

The first team of 10 divers, including astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, 39, is expected to go down Wednesday after the underwater base is checked for leaks and for reliability of communications with the surface.

Navy Commander Carpenter, an expert in diving techniques, may stay down as long as 30 days in an attempt to set a new underwater record. Four men lived 13 days at a depth of 160 feet in the smaller Sealab 1 off Bermuda last year.

The other divers will rotate on 15-day tours of duty in Sealab 2, which has facilities for 10 at a time.

Lowering of the pressurized steel chamber to its site 1,000 yards offshore from this San Diego County resort has been delayed since Aug. 15 by numerous technical problems, including damage over the weekend to a seven-ton pod which relay power and communications via cables between Sealab 2 and the surface.

The pod's concrete casing was cracked when an underwater current smashed it against the bottom as it was being lowered Saturday. A replacement was built hurriedly at the Naval Electronics Laboratory in San Diego.

A spokesman said the pod would be working in time for the start of operations Wednesday but that there would be some delay in planned live television from Sealab 2.

Goal of the project is to determine how long and how well men can function deep in the ocean at a pressure six times that on the surface.

Reapportionment Issue Revived

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio House Republicans have turned thumbs down on the "floating fraction" provision of a Senate-approved legislative reapportionment proposal.

News of World in Brief

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio (AP)—A highway patrolman who suffered a brain hemorrhage Monday while changing a tire for a motorist, died early today.

Cpl. Charles H. Littlecott, 35, of Route 6, Cambridge, was being transferred from Cambridge Hospital to Columbus when his condition grew worse in Zanesville. He died in a Zanesville hospital.

he managed to fix the viewing orientation device.

Flight officials considered a mock maneuver for today's plan, but then said they would not perform it. It would have been a maneuver on paper only — with no firing of the jet thrusters.

There was still the possibility of some maneuvering later in the mission.

The astronauts got a "well done" from earth Monday for their 40,000-mile chase after a satellite that didn't exist.

Afterwards, flight officials reported that if the satellite had not been merely a ghost, the spacecraft would have been within 17 miles of it — or, to a point where it would be up to the crew's judgment and ability, rather than computers, to dock with it.

A rendezvous with a 76-pound radar-equipped pod was ditched earlier in the Gemini 5 flight after a power failure on the spacecraft.

Guardsmen Move Fast To Save Life

Two Ohio National Guardsmen, one from Circleville and the other from Columbus, were credited with saving the life of a Michigan boy during the weekend.

The guardsmen are participating in a two-week summer training program at Camp Grayling, Mich. Details of their life-saving were received here today.

David Merriken, 17, Lansing, Mich., was critically injured when a car collided with his motorcycle near the national guard camp.

The story of what happened next was reported by guard officers at Camp Grayling:

AS MERRIKEN lay on the pavement, Sgt. Forrest D. Eastwood, 27, of 215½ N. Pickaway St. and Sp. 4 Warren L. Briggs, 27, of Columbus halted their car and ran to the scene. The guardsmen took emergency first aid measures to halt a heavy loss of blood from one of the boy's injured legs.

A physician stopped to survey the injuries, then obtained an apparatus to administer a saline solution intravenously to the youth.

The boy was placed in a station wagon.

A state police trooper drove the makeshift ambulance at high speed to Grayling Mercy Hospital 35 miles away while Eastwood and Briggs attended the boy.

One guardsman held "pressure points" on arteries to halt the blood flow. The other administered the intravenous solution.

"They certainly did a wonderful job. We're very thankful," said Mrs. Helen Blake, a nurse on duty at the hospital.

No Charges Filed For Flag Users

CONNEAUT, Ohio (AP) — City Solicitor Walter T. Thayer said Monday no charges will be filed against two persons who used old U.S. flags as paint drop cloths.

Thayer said the act was thoughtless but that he found neither "intent to desecrate or profane the flags, nor desire to show contempt." The flags, both 35 years old, will be burned Sunday afternoon by the local American Legion post.

persons were drowned and 20 others were missing and believed lost in the capsizing of an overloaded motor launch off Samar Island, the Philippine constabulary reported today.

The constabulary said the boat's maximum safe load was 40 people but 150 were aboard. The launch was en route Monday from Leyte Island to Catbalogan, on Samar. It capsized in rough weather about 20 miles from Catbalogan.

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP)—More than 2,000 American servicemen in Europe have asked to be sent to the Viet Nam war, a spokesman at the U.S. Army's European headquarters said today.

He reported that 500 applications from volunteers had been approved, but he could not say whether any men were being drafted from Europe to Viet Nam.

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—An Air Force Minuteman 2 rocket was fired out of an underground silo on a target 5,000 miles away in the South Atlantic Monday, its ninth straight test flight without a miss.

The three-stage push button missile streaked into the sky in a 30-minute flight which the Air Force called "extremely successful."

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Lynda Bird Johnson, 21-year-old daughter of the President, took a back road into Canada Monday night to see a performance of Anton Chekhov's Russian classic, "The Cherry Orchard," at the Stratford (Ont.) Festival Theater.

Miss Johnson and her party took the back road to keep the theater trip a secret. Afterwards, she attended a theater party and chatted with members of the cast.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—U.S. Deputy Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson will leave his post in South Viet Nam soon, informed sources said today.

Johnson arrived here soon after Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor became ambassador in June 1964. Taylor replaced Henry Cabot Lodge, who has since returned to the post for a second tour of duty.

Johnson's role was considered unusual because he was second man in the diplomatic mission, though having the rank of ambassador.

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—More than 250 delegates to the Mennonite General Conference will seek to establish church guidelines at a four-day conference which opened today at Kidron near here.

The 34th biennial meeting includes delegates from the United States, Canada, India, Brazil, Argentina, Paraguay and Uruguay. It represents the largest group of Mennonites in North America—about 95,000 members—including 11,000 in Ohio.

Guidelines will be established on such issues as capital punishment, world peace and inter-church work and relationships, said a church spokesman.

Market Gain Is Irregular

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed an irregular gain early this afternoon in slack trading.

Scattered gains by blue chips helped buck up the over-all market.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 330.5 with industrials up .6, rails up .2 and utilities up .4.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.37 at 888.44.

The averages were helped by General Electric's rise of a point and Du Pont's gain of a point and a half.

IBM made a new high as it advanced more than 4. Polaroid gained 2, Xerox more than a point.

Navy Primes Sealab Base

Astronaut Joins Team of Divers

LA JOLLA, Calif. (AP) — After more than a week of technical delays the Navy said it was ready today to lower its Sealab 2 to the ocean floor, where teams of divers will spend up to 45 days working, eating and sleeping at a depth of 210 feet.

The first team of 10 divers, including astronaut M. Scott Carpenter, 39, is expected to go down Wednesday after the underwater base is checked for leaks and for reliability of communications with the surface.

Navy Commander Carpenter, an expert in diving techniques, may stay down as long as 30 days in an attempt to set a new underwater record. Four men lived 13 days at a depth of 160 feet in the smaller Sealab 1 off Bermuda last year.

The other divers will rotate on 15-day tours of duty in Sealab 2, which has facilities for 10 at a time.

Lowering of the pressurized steel chamber to its site 1,000 yards offshore from this San Diego County resort has been delayed since Aug. 15 by numerous technical problems, including damage over the weekend to a seven-ton pod which relay power and communications via cables between Sealab 2 and the surface.

The pod's concrete casing was cracked when an underwater current smashed it against the bottom as it was being lowered Saturday. A replacement was built hurriedly at the Naval Electronics Laboratory in San Diego.

A spokesman said the pod would be working in time for the start of operations Wednesday but that there would be some delay in planned live television from Sealab 2.

Goal of the project is to determine how long and how well men can function deep in the ocean at a pressure six times that on the surface.

Solons Name Bennington, Accept Plat

Roger Bennington, local attorney who lives at 561 Spring-hollow Road, has been appointed to serve as a member of the Pickaway County District Public Library Board.

Bennington was named yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners. He will fill the unexpired term of Tom Renick who died several days ago. The term expires Dec. 31, 1971.

In other business, the county solons approved and accepted a plat designated as Northwood Park Subdivision, Section No. 1. The land is owned by Edward J. and Patricia A. Frericks.

The proposed housing area, containing 21.05 acres, has been subdivided into 29 lots. It is located immediately north of Route 188 in Circleville Twp.

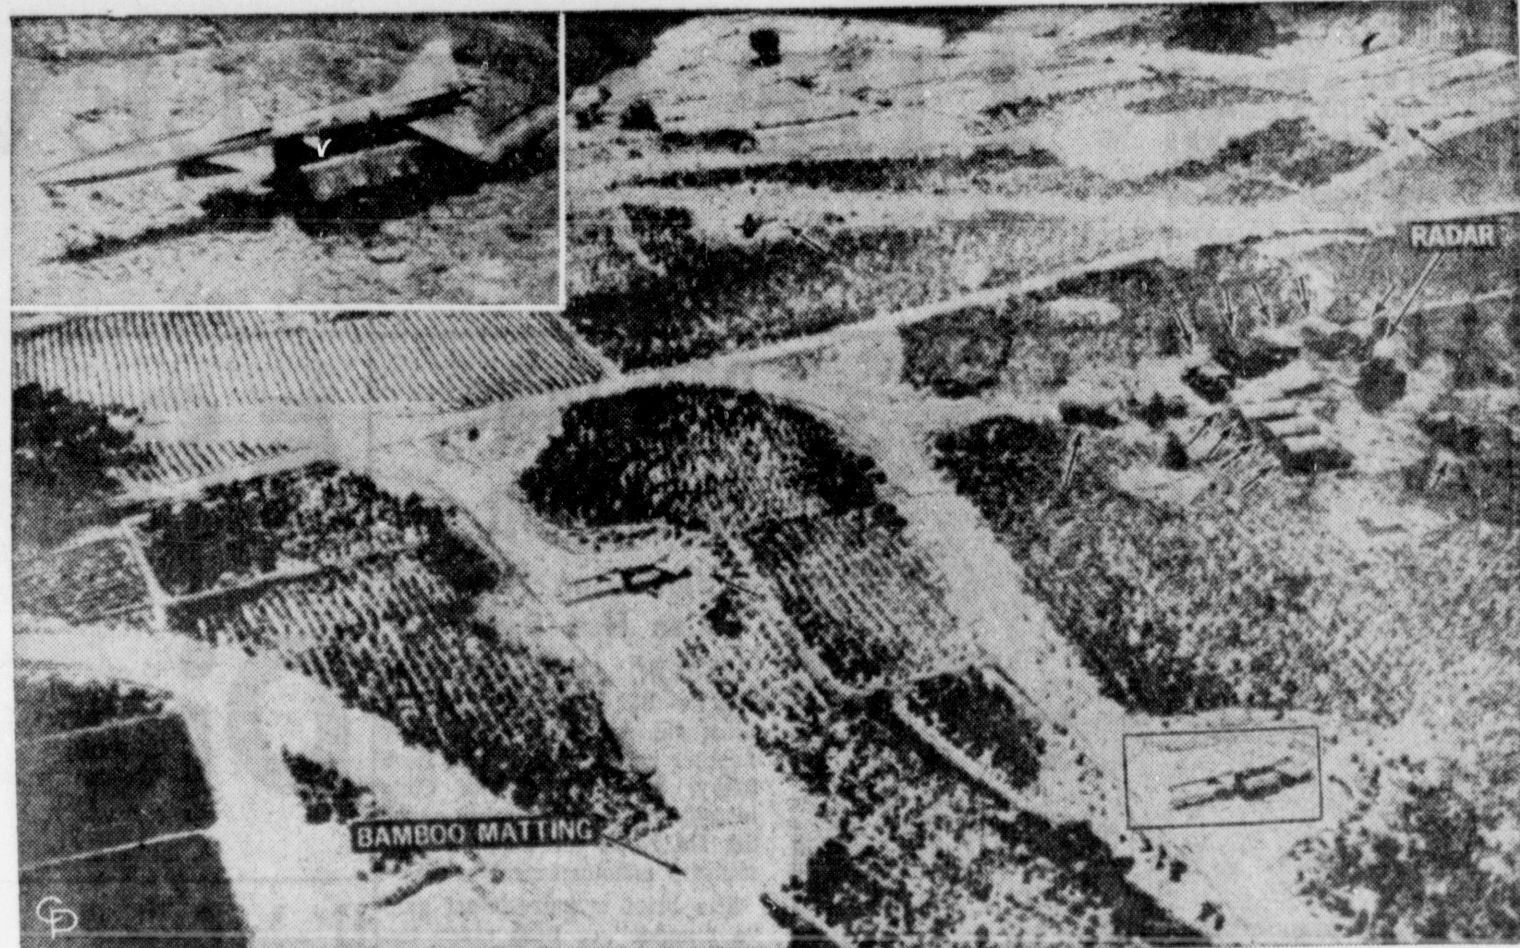

A PERFORMANCE bond assuring the installation of streets, sewers and other facilities within the subdivision also was accepted by the Commission.

Payment of weekly bills was approved in other routine business conducted by the board.

Girl Scouts Complain U.S. Reneged on Land

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Can the federal Bureau of Land Management, landlord of a huge chunk of Nevada public land, do without 80 acres of Red Rock Canyon?

Thalia Dondero and her Girl Scouts think it can — and that it should.

After nearly a decade of unraveling red tape, the girls claim the bureau has broken its word.

In 1956, Mrs. Donero's Frontier Girl Scout Council filed for 80 acres of grass and pine land in the canyon, 15 miles west of Las Vegas.

Equal Rights Group Forms In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana has one of the Deep South's first statewide biracial committees — 42 prominent state leaders handpicked by the governor — to disarm racial powderkegs.

Gov. John J. McKeithen announced the 42-member commission Monday. The idea for the group, to avert or soothe racial friction, was conceived during the tense civil rights struggle at Bogalusa this summer.

The Council for a Better Louisiana recommended the biracial advisory committee when there were fears the racial tension of Bogalusa might spread across the state.

McKeithen said the commission could make Louisiana a less fertile field for such "outside influences" as the Congress of Racial Equality.

CORE has said that it will continue to push its civil rights drives in Louisiana, "until all are equal and free."

The biracial advisory commission is a study and evaluation group. It has no authority to make anyone take action, but McKeithen said he will back it with every power at his command.

The new commission, which has 21 white and 21 Negro members, will meet soon to outline objectives.

Registration Is Under Way

Registration is still being conducted in Circleville schools for the coming term.

J. L. Chilcote is stationed at the S. Court St. building and is handling registration for students of that building as well as those of Corwin, Walnut and Wayne Twp. Mrs. Mary Lamb is performing the same duties at the Atwater building for Nicholas Drive students.

Beginning Monday, Mrs. Mary Johnson will be stationed at the Mount St. building for registration purposes.

The superintendent's office in the high school building is also open daily for the registration of new students in the Circleville school district.

Corn Roast Held For Cub Pack 52

Cub Pack 52 of the First Methodist Church held a corn roast at Logan Elm for the scouts and their families.

The next meeting will be Sept. 20 in the church basement. There is a committee meeting scheduled Sept. 13 at the home of Mrs. Orlando Brown, 419 E. Ohio St.

A campout is planned for this weekend for Cub Scouts and their fathers.

Girl Scouts Complain U.S. Reneged on Land

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Can the federal Bureau of Land Management, landlord of a huge chunk of Nevada public land, do without 80 acres of Red Rock Canyon?

Thailia Dondero and her Girl Scouts think it can — and that it should.

After nearly a decade of unraveling red tape, the girls claim the bureau has broken its word.

In 1956, Mrs. Donero's Frontier Girl Scout Council filed for 80 acres of grass and pine land in the canyon, 15 miles west of Las Vegas.

Equal Rights Group Forms In Louisiana

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Louisiana has one of the Deep South's first statewide biracial committees — 42 prominent state leaders handpicked by the governor — to disarm racial powderkegs.

Gov. John J. McKeithen announced the 42-member commission Monday. The idea for the group, to avert or soothe racial friction, was conceived during the tense civil rights struggle at Bogalusa this summer.

The Council for a Better Louisiana recommended the biracial advisory committee when there were fears the racial tension of Bogalusa might spread across the state.

McKeithen said the commission could make Louisiana a less fertile field for such "outside influences" as the Congress of Racial Equality.

CORE has said that it will continue to push its civil rights drives in Louisiana, "until all are equal and free."

The biracial advisory commission is a study and evaluation group. It has no authority to make anyone take action, but McKeithen said he will back it with every power at his command.

The new commission, which has 21 white and 21 Negro members, will meet soon to outline objectives.

Blow to the West

No matter what is said and done to minimize its consequences, the departure of Singapore from the Federation of Malaysia is a victory for Indonesia and Red China. Both opposed the federation and both strove to wreck it.

The breakup came over differences between Malaysian Premier Rahman and Singapore's Premier Lee Kuan Yew. But the effect of the economic attrition imposed by Sukarno also was evident in Lee's declaration that henceforth "we will trade with the devil to survive."

Accordingly, the communist Bank of China's Singapore branch, which the Malaysian government had ordered closed, will continue to operate. Trade with Indonesia also is being solicited anew and Sukarno doubtless will be happy to oblige.

It will take all the skill and resources at Britain's command to retain its substantial naval and military installations in Singapore. Without them the prospect of another Cuba across the causeway from Malaya would be advanced and the difficulties confronting the United States in Viet Nam would be compounded.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP) — Viet Nam war spending is starting to fatten the new order books of U.S. industry. But even without this, the economy is putting on more weight.

Two indicators of how we're doing right now—shipments of durable goods, and personal incomes—both are rising.

A major indicator of how we'll be doing this fall—new orders for durable goods—is spurring again after a slight lag. In the midst of summer's heat, corporations took in almost as large a dollar volume of new orders as they did in record-smashing April.

And orders having no connection with defense rose, just as did those traceable to increased military spending in the future.

How much of a psychological effect the Viet Nam war's quickening pace may have had on those doing the ordering is a matter of opinion. That it had some effect seems likely, since increased government spending for defense will be counted on to foster economic growth.

But much of the new ordering seems traceable to revised and more optimistic expectations that the civilian economy is due to go right on expanding as it has most of the time now since early 1961.

This assessment of the business outlook isn't unanimous—it never is. But there's been a measureable change from the gloom of late spring to the more optimistic view of late summer.

Increasing employment has helped to reassure business planners. It means that there will be more people with money to spend on the goods that industry now plans to produce.

Wages and salaries rose in July to an annual rate of $359.2 billion, up $2.3 billion from June. And half of the July payroll rise is credited to manufacturing companies. Factory payrolls are now running at a $117 billion annual rate.

The new orders pouring in at increased volume should keep those payrolls comfortably high.

The commerce Department says durable goods orders in July rose to $22 billion, a gain of $1.1 billion from June, and just under the record $22.04 billion set in April.

If industry is doing so well in summer, how does it look for fall? Most businessmen seem to think very good indeed, if their ordering is a sign.

There are some uncertainties, as always. One is the steel labor negotiations now nailing a climax, with the possibilities including a strike, a wage increase, a price hike, even government intervention. Another is what could happen in Viet Nam, or in a large area of conflict.

NEAR SKOWHEGAN, Maine, there's a plumber named John Gnow, whose grandfather and father were plumbers before him. Mr. Gnow makes a pretty penny repairing pipes and drains for the rich city folk who vacation in these parts, but a big leak in the cellar of one socialite was too much for him. While additional plumbers were on their way from Portland, the water level in the socialite's cellar continued to rise. The disconsolate John Gnow was further disturbed when the socialite painted a big sign at the top of the cellar stairs with a big arrow and the legend, "THIS WAY TO GNAW'S FLOOD."

An old World War II story has been revived with a Viet Nam background. It now goes that Red China sends five thousand "eager volunteers" to fight for the Viet Cong. "We send these brave fellows," read the accompanying message from Chou-en-lai "to help our common cause. They are overjoyed to join up with you. P.S. Please return the ropes."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My husband has recently recovered from a coronary heart attack. We are most grateful to his doctor for his faithful devotion to us. Since he has left the hospital my husband has been taking a blood thinning medicine. He has to take weekly blood tests.

Now I am upset. Two of my friends are confusing us by saying that the blood medicine is unnecessary and that the tests are weakening him. I am unable to bring myself to ask our doctor about this because it might ruin our relationship. How should I proceed?

Dear Mrs. T.: Your letter is a most intriguing one. It seems to include so many of the problems involved in the practice of medicine from the patient's and the doctor's point of view. Let us review them.

Your husband's recovery from a heart attack is a tribute to his stamina and to the treatment and care he received during the dangerous phase of his attack.

Your gratitude to your doctor is another testimonial to the solid supporting relationship between patients and their doctors. His devotion is an ingredient in "recovery" that does not come in measured doses at four-hour intervals. A physician's devotion is a constant support to the patient and to his family.

Your physician's decision to use a blood thinning or anticoagulant medicine is based on his good judgment and the past experience of many heart specialists who favor its use.

The repeated blood tests are important to keep a regular check and control of the drug. The dosage of the drug can then be regulated and kept at the right level for its maximum benefit.

So far, you and your husband have been given the physical help and the emotional support so vital to complete recovery from a coronary heart attack.

And now two new and totally uninformed "consultants," your friends, enter the medical picture. They now proceed to undermine a structure of faith with their medical misinformation and their presumptuousness.

Your friends, I am certain, will say, "they tell me anti-coagulants are not safe." The "they" that your solicitous friends refer to are always faceless ones whose authority can never be identified.

Can you really intelligently match the baseless reasoning of untrained, but admittedly kind, friends against the solid trained judgment of your doctor? When friends become medical muddlers and meddles they must be brought up sharply by telling them you "already have a doctor."

Your fear that you will destroy your relationship with your doctor is unfounded. By frankly discussing your concern and unnecessary confusion you will even further cement the association that has returned your husband to good health.

A Healing Touch

By John Chamberlain

TEXARKANA, Ark. — It's a bit early to be campaigning for governor when the 1966 elections are more than a year away. Yet here in Arkansas, where Winthrop Rockefeller hopes on a second try to break the power monopoly held by the Democratic Party in general and six-term Governor Orval Faubus in particular, there is no escaping the duty laid upon the Republicans by a peculiar turn of fate.

The problem is to make use of the only available symbol to build a party and, at the same time, to avoid tarnishing that symbol's magic as a candidate through over-exposure. After following Winthrop Rockefeller around for a bit as he hits a muted early campaign trail, one quickly grasps the complexity of the ticklish operation. The Republicans of Arkansas gained a great deal of momentum from the Goldwater campaign. However, the not-so-hidden hope of some of the national Goldwaterites that a Goldwater-Faubus bipartisan conservatism might prevail in the state last November with "Win" Rockefeller being cast in a tacit role of fall guy, created many possibilities of continuing bad blood. Surprisingly, however, the election enemies in Arkansas seem to have subsided. The more fervent Goldwaterites, stunned by the fact that Rockefeller actually ran ahead of the national Republican ticket, seemingly look on Winthrop Rockefeller with new respect. And Rockefeller, if he holds any grudges because of the power play that came to nothing when Faubus belatedly declared for Lyndon Johnson, does not show it.

Thus his unique availability as a healing symbol in a state that might have been wracked by the left-right dissensions that are still dogging Ray Bliss, the national Republican chairman, in Washington. Because of his positions as Pacifier, leader and Republican—as more-than-a-dirty-word, Winthrop Rockefeller must hit the campaign trail in order to build an organization in the counties that will be ready by 1966. In 1964 only two Arkansas counties, those which contained the cities of Little Rock and Fort Smith, had viable Republican organizations. Now there are forty-five. This still leaves thirty counties to go—and there isn't too much time to finish the job. But how is Rockefeller to get out in front as the living symbol of organization without peaking much too soon as a candidate? Campaigns that run for eighteen months have a way of fading.

However, Rockefeller seems to have solved his problem by a three-day-a-month educational campaign to carry the message of regional development to every county in the state. He has honestly earned the right to do this, for he was head of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission for years, and his own complex of farms, with their breath-taking headquarters on Petit Jean Mountain high over the Arkansas River, is just as much a symbol of agricultural health as he himself is the symbol of the reviving two-party system. By carrying the message throughout Arkansas that counties with similar problems must group themselves together for planning purposes if they are not to be misused by the Great Society thinkers who don't know local problems he gets maximum exposure of his earnest, humorous and attractive personality without prematurely forcing political issues.

The risk, here is that talk about county responsibility in regional planning is bound to be somewhat wistful when Lyndon Johnson holds the cards in Washington and Orval Faubus's state highway program can be manipulated with a punitive slant, with the loyal Democratic regions getting the plums. Talking with members of the audiences that came to listen to "Win" Rockefeller here in Texarkana, one encountered some wonderment about the uses the Republicans might make of regional planning as a campaign issue when LBJ is putting his own planning brand on everything from Appalachia to "Ozarkia." Yet, in both Texarkana and in the nearby town of Stamps, there is a manifest feeling that "Win" Rockefeller has been good for Arkansas, and that if he could help direct the planning for such concepts as "Ozarkia" and Red River valley regionalism things would go all the better because of the famous Rockefeller industrial and agricultural savvy.

The main thing is that Rockefeller is succeeding in identifying Republicanism with "what's good for Arkansas." In a state that has been forty-ninth, forty-eighth and forty-seventh in so many things for so many years, this could be a winning play.

LOUISVILLE (AP) —The old firehouse gong has vanished in Louisville.

The bells were rigged outside of stations in the days of horse-drawn firewagons to warn passersby the rigs were about to dash out.

Horns later supplanted the bells and Maj. Robert O. Catlett, the department's property officer, now has ordered the remaining relics dismantled.

STEBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) —Theater owner Arthur D'Annibale Sr. might have been forewarned when two masked men robbed him at his drive-in theater.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

NEAR SKOWHEGAN, Maine, there's a plumber named John Gnow, whose grandfather and father were plumbers before him. Mr. Gnow makes a pretty penny repairing pipes and drains for the rich city folk who vacation in these parts, but a big leak in the cellar of one socialite was too much for him. While additional plumbers were on their way from Portland, the water level in the socialite's cellar continued to rise. The disconsolate John Gnow was further disturbed when the socialite painted a big sign at the top of the cellar stairs with a big arrow and the legend, "THIS WAY TO GNAW'S FLOOD."

An old World War II story has been revived with a Viet Nam background. It now goes that Red China sends five thousand "eager volunteers" to fight for the Viet Cong. "We send brave fellows," read the accompanying message from Chou-en-lai "to help our common cause. They are overjoyed to join up with you. P.S. Please return the ropes."

OVERHEARD: In Detroit: "Want to know what's wrong with our economy today? The U.S.A. is making more money in 1965 than Egypt and Asia know what to do with."

In the Sing Sing visitors' room: Convict: "I'm in jail for having four wives." Visitor: "How are you enjoying your liberty?" At a literary cocktail party: "Jason, don't you dare take another drink! Your face is already getting too blurred."

At Closters, Switzerland: "Here come Peter's skis: he can't be far behind!"

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

My husband has recently recovered from a coronary heart attack. We are most grateful to his doctor for his faithful devotion to us. Since he has left the hospital my husband has been taking a blood thinning medicine. He has to take weekly blood tests.

Now I am upset. Two of my friends are confusing us by saying that the blood medicine is unnecessary and that the tests are weakening him. I am unable to bring myself to ask our doctor about this because it might ruin our relationship. How should I proceed?

Mrs. F. R. T., California

Dear Mrs. T.: Your letter is a most intriguing one. It seems to include so many of the problems involved in the practice of medicine from the patient's and the doctor's point of view. Let us review them.

Your husband's recovery from a heart attack is a tribute to his stamina and to the treatment and care he received during the dangerous phase of his attack.

Your gratitude to your doctor is another testimonial to the solid supporting relationship between patients and their doctors. His devotion is an ingredient in "recovery" that does not come in measured doses at four - hour intervals. A physician's devotion is a constant support to the patient and to his family.

Your physician's decision to use a blood thinning or anti-coagulant medicine is based on his good judgment and the past experience of many heart specialists who favor its use.

The repeated blood tests are important to keep a regular check and control of the drug. The dosage of the drug can then be regulated and kept at the right level for its maximum benefit.

So far, you and your husband have been given the physical help and the emotional support so vital to complete recovery from a coronary heart attack. And now two new and totally uninformed "consultants," your friends, enter the medical picture. They now proceed to undermine a structure of faith with their medical misinformation and their presumptuousness.

Your friends, I am certain, will say, "they tell me anti-

A Healing Touch

By John Chamberlain

TEXARKANA, Ark. — It's a bit early to be campaigning for governor when the 1966 elections are more than a year away. Yet here in Arkansas, where Winthrop Rockefeller hopes on a second try to break the power monopoly held by the Democratic Party in general and six-term Governor Orval Faubus in particular, there is no escaping the duty laid upon the Republicans by a peculiar turn of fate.

The problem is to make use of the only available symbol to build a party and, at the same time, to avoid tarnishing that symbol's magic as a candidate through over - exposure. After following Winthrop Rockefeller around for a bit as he hits a muted early campaign trail, one quickly grasps the complexity of the ticklish operation. The Republicans of Arkansas gained a great deal of momentum from the Goldwater campaign. However, the not-so-hidden hope of some of the national Goldwaterites that a Goldwater-Faubus bipartisan conservatism might prevail in the state late November with "Win" Rockefeller being cast in a tacit role of fall guy, created many possibilities of continuing a bad blood. Surprisingly, however, the election enemies in Arkansas seem to have subsided. The more fervent Goldwaterites, stunned by the fact that Rockefeller actually ran ahead of the national Republican ticket, seemingly look on Winthrop Rockefeller with new respect. And Rockefeller, if he holds any grudges because of the power play that came to nothing when Faubus belatedly declared for Lyndon Johnson, does not show it.

Thus his unique availability as a healing symbol in a state that might have been wracked by the left - right dissensions that are still dogging Ray Bliss, the national Republican chairman, in Washington. Because of his positions as Pacifier, leader and Republican - as - more-than-a-dirty-word, Winthrop Rockefeller must hit the campaign trail in order to build an organization in the counties that will be ready by 1966. In 1964 only two Arkansas counties, those which contained the cities of Little Rock and Fort Smith, had viable Republican organizations. Now there are forty - five. This still leaves thirty counties to go — and there isn't too much time to finish the job. But how is Rockefeller to get out in front as the living symbol of organization without peaking much too soon as a candidate? Campaigns that run for eighteen months have a way of fading.

However, Rockefeller seems to have solved his problem by a three - day - a - month educational campaign to carry the message of regional development to every county in the state. He has honestly earned the right to do this, for he was head of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission for years, and his own complex of farms, with their breath-taking headquarters on Petit Jean Mountain high over the Arkansas River, is just as much a symbol of agricultural health as he himself is the symbol of the reviving two-party system. By carrying the message throughout Arkansas that counties with similar problems must group themselves together for planning purposes if they are not to be misused by Great Society thinkers who don't know local problems he gets maximum exposure of his earnest, humorous and attractive personality without prematurely forcing political issues.

The risk, here is that talk about county responsibility in regional planning is bound to be somewhat wistful when Lyndon Johnson holds the cards in Washington and Orval Faubus's state highway program can be manipulated with a punitive slant, with the loyal Democratic regions getting the plums. Talking with members of the audiences that came to listen to "Win" Rockefeller here in Texarkana, one encountered some wonderment about the uses the Republicans might make of regional planning as a campaign issue when LBJ is putting his own planning brand on everything from Appalachia to "Ozarkia." Yet, in both Texarkana and in the nearby town of Stamps, there is a manifest feeling that "Win" Rockefeller has been good for Arkansas, and that if he could help direct the planning for such concepts as "Ozarkia" and Red River valley regionalism things would go all the better because of the famous Rockefeller industrial and agricultural savvy.

The main thing is that Rockefeller is succeeding in identifying Republicanism with "what's good for Arkansas." In a state that has been forty-ninth, forty - eighth and forty-seventh in so many things for so many years, this could be a winning play.

Waterfowl hunters in Pickaway County were notified there would be a 70-day season this year, an increase of 15 days.

More than 1.45 inches of rain was reported to have fallen in Circleville during the night and morning.

Mrs. David Goldschmidt and twin daughters were dismissed from Berger Hospital to their home on Main St.

Rate Increase Rumor Upsets Lancione

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Reports that possible increase in automobile insurance rates is under study brought a cry of "foul" Monday from House Minority Leader A. G. Lancione, D-Belmont.

"During the recent session of the legislature we repeatedly called for investigation of the department of insurance's rate making procedure," the announced Democratic candidate for governor said in a statement.

"We pointed out that there were persistent reports that another hike in insurance rates was contemplated and demanded assurance that the public interest would be protected.

"The superintendent of insurance replied that he had no knowledge of the proposed hike despite public statements of his staff to the contrary."

Insurance Supt. William Morris said recently that new casualty rate schedules had been filed and were under consideration. He declined to say whether a general rate increase might result.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald R. Ford has a job on his hands, but he asked for it. What he wants to do is clear enough, but not how he's going about it.

The 52-year-old Ford of Michigan asked his fellow House Republicans last January to make him their leader. They did and, in the process, threw out their old leader, Indiana's Charles A. Halleck, who still has a lot of friends in the House.

Ford said there were "very minor differences philosophical" between him and Halleck. Both are conservatives. But there is hardly total unity behind Ford. There are various shades of "minor differences" among the Republicans.

Yet Ford's job as leader is to make Republicans look good — at the Democrats' expense, when they can — in the hope they will recapture in the 1966 congressional elections some of the seats they lost in the 1964 disaster.

Meanwhile, his Republicans are vastly outnumbered by the Democrats who, with this strength, can ram through Johnson's programs. Ford said, nevertheless, the Democrats' voting advantage would "plague" them.

But all in one day he was to say "victory (in the 1966 elections) is in the air" and also that he feared the two-party system was in danger. But his performance in relation to President Johnson is puzzling.

On April 9 he said he was "confused... perplexed" over Johnson's Viet Nam policy, complaining the President hadn't informed him and the GOP Senate leader, Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, before offering to negotiate peace and proposing a big development plan for Southeast Asia.

On May 27 he was critical of what he called irresponsible criticism of Johnson's foreign policies, saying "Republicans will support the President as long as we think he is right, and at the moment we think he is precisely right."

In June and July he was calling for a naval blockade of North Viet Nam and a "mighty U.S. military air offensive" against Communists in North and South Viet Nam. He wanted Soviet missile bases bombed, although that could mean war with the Soviet Union.

But on July 19 he said "the American people grow more concerned, more confused by the hour, as the war situation becomes a nightmare of speculation."

On July 21 he denounced "irresponsible criticism" of Johnson's Viet Nam policy, defending "those of us who urge that the President act to convince the Communists of our resolve."

But on July 30, after Johnson announced he was sending 50,000 more troops to Viet Nam, Ford said "I very much fear that an increased commitment of ground troops in Viet Nam will lead to a change of policy involving American soldiers in large scale ground fighting." They had already been involved in ground fighting although not on a big scale.

Then on Aug. 6 he suggested the United States should declare war in the Viet Nam crisis. But his opposite number, the House Democratic leader, Carl Albert of Oklahoma, called such a move foolhardy and useless.

But now, after all the tough measures he had advocated, Ford is in a dispute with Johnson over the measures former President Dwight D. Eisenhower had advocated.

From 1954 on Eisenhower had repeatedly promised assistance to the South Vietnamese to help them keep their independence. He never promised to send in fighting troops.

But he did promise economic and military assistance. And from 1955 until he left the White House Eisenhower kept almost 700 American technicians in Viet Nam to train the native troops and teach them how to use the weapons.

He didn't have to send in fighting troops for in those years the guerrilla campaign wasn't full-scale.

Johnson has repeatedly said he is following the promises of help to Viet Nam made by Eisenhower and President John F. Kennedy. He has spoken of Eisenhower's offers to "support" or "defend" South Viet Nam.

Last week Eisenhower said he had been talking of "economic" help. This could have been interpreted as a split with Johnson. Eisenhower promptly denied any such idea, gave his full backing to the President.

Nevertheless, Ford this week will produce a "white paper" aimed at rebutting Johnson's statements that he is carrying out promises made by Eisenhower. In view of Eisenhower's wholehearted support of Johnson, Ford's paper won't mean much.

Meanwhile, beating Ford to the punch, the White House Monday put out a booklet stating what Eisenhower said and giving its view on why the war is necessary.

Public Hearing Set for I-470

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing has been set for Sept. 8 on a seven-mile section of Interstate 470 in Belmont County at the courthouse, in St. Clairsville.

Cost of the project is estimated at $12 million. Highway Director P. E. Masheter said the project begins at Interstate and extends to the Ohio River.

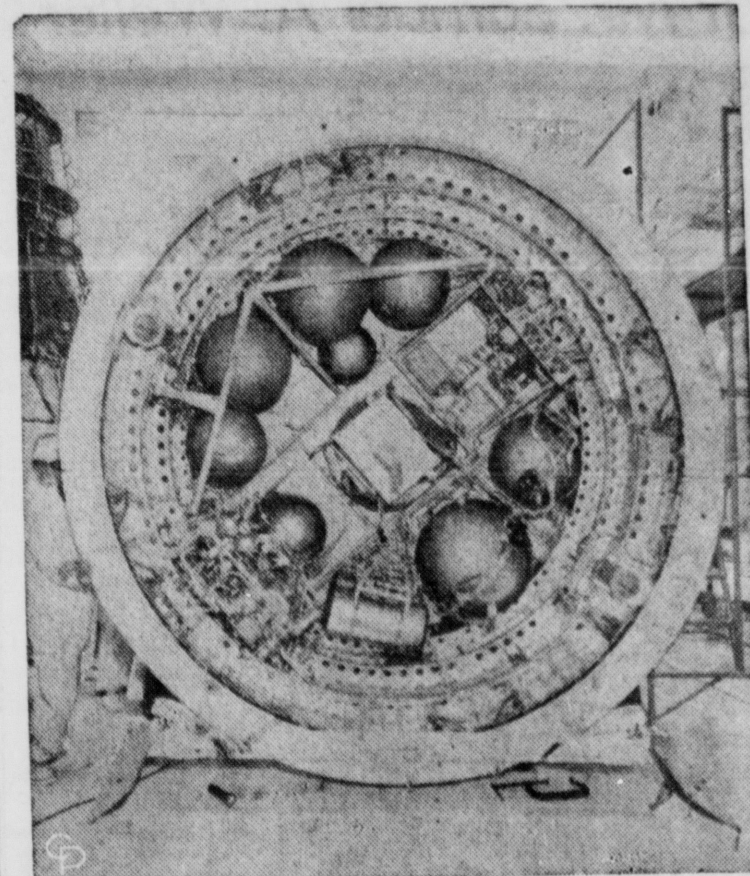

At this point the route connects with an Interstate 470 bridge across the river on the West Virginia interstate system. A proposal to rescind an earlier alignment for Interstate 470 from Bridgeport and extending two miles south along U. S. 7 will also be heard.

But he did promise economic and military assistance. And from 1955 until he left the White House Eisenhower kept almost 700 American technicians in Viet Nam to train the native troops and teach them how to use the weapons.

He didn't have to send in fighting troops for in those years the guerrilla campaign wasn't full-scale.

Johnson has repeatedly said he is following the promises of help to Viet Nam made by Eisenhower and President John F. Kennedy. He has spoken of Eisenhower's offers to "support" or "defend" South Viet Nam.

Last week Eisenhower said he had been talking of "economic" help. This could have been interpreted as a split with Johnson. Eisenhower promptly denied any such idea, gave his full backing to the President. Nevertheless, Ford this week

Meanwhile, beating Ford to the punch, the White House Monday put out a booklet stating what Eisenhower said and giving its view on why the war is necessary.

Public Hearing Set for I-470

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A public hearing has been set for Sept. 8 on a seven-mile section of Interstate 470 in Belmont County at the courthouse, in St. Clairsville.

Cost of the project is estimated at $12 million. Highway Director P. E. Masheter said the project begins at Interstate and extends to the Ohio River.

Miss Nancy Kay Puffinbarger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Puffinbarger Jr., Williamsport, and Mr. Samuel Alan Weller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Floyd Weller, 165 E. High St., exchanged wedding vows 7:30 p. m. Aug. 14 in Trinity Lutheran Church.

Pastor Carl Zehner performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli, Fuji mums and stock.

Mrs. Thomas Downing presented a program of nuptial music.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor length gown of white silk faced peau designed with a bell silhouette with a detachable chapel train. Re-embroidered Alencon lace enhanced the waistline and the bodice was fashioned with an oval neckline and kabuchi sleeves of Alencon lace with a bow on the shoulders. A forward rose of silk faced peau with Alencon lace and pearls held her elbow length veil of imported silk illusion and she carried a cascade bouquet of white snow drifts and Stephanotis against polished ivy streamers and centered with a pair of cymbidium orchids.

Mrs. Gary L. Wisecup was matron of honor. Miss Sue E. Rihl was bridesmaid. They wore identical floor length dresses of pink silk organza over cloud mist trimmed with Venice lace each fashioned with elbow length sleeves and a bell skirt with a brush train and self rose. Matching bows with roses held their butterfly veils and they carried cascade arrangements of yuletide roses and snow drifts with polished ivy streamers. Each wore a silver chain necklace with a pearl, a gift from the bride. Mr. Richard D. Kline served as best man. Ushers were Mr. James E. Wellington and Mr. Robert J. Wilson.

The bride's mother chose for her daughters wedding a two piece sheath dress of blue lace with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a rose chiffon dress with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink champagne roses and snowdrifts.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the church. The bride's table was centered with a four tiered wedding cake surrounded with chrysanthemums and greenery. Hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Immler, Miss Carolyn Hall, Miss Ann Diltz and Miss Loche MacKenzie. Mrs. John Tarbill presided at the guest register.

For a wedding trip to Niagara Falls and Canada the new Mrs. Weller wore a long sleeved powder blue organdy dress trimmed with a white collar with navy blue accessories and the orchids from her bridal bouquet.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Wrong Kind of Help!

DEAR ABBY: My husband wrote several bad checks a few months ago. He's now on parole has a good job and is paying back the money. My problem is my mother. She is constantly on my neck, telling me I should go to work and help my husband pay off his obligations. Abby, my husband is strongly against my going to work. He says it's HIS fault that he has those debts, and he wants to pay them off himself.

I think my husband is right and I should respect his wishes.

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Tinklen Roller Bearing Co. and United Steelworkers negotiators return to the bargaining table today after agreeing Monday night on a contract extension to head off a possible strike.

John W. Johns, USW district director, said he was "quite hopeful we will reach an agreement with the company in this new period of time."

Under the extension, negotiators have until Sept. 19 to come to terms. Any gains in the new contract will be retroactive to today, Johns said.

The union represents 10,000 workers here and in Columbus and Wooster.

The company has offered a package with improvements valued at 40 cents an hour over a three-year period. The union reportedly seeks a 60-cent package.

To vary the popular sliced orange and onion-ring salad, add chopped fresh mint. Arrange the orange slices and onion rings on salad greens, drizzle with French dressing (oil and vinegar) and sprinkle with the mint.

My mother says I am lazy. She has discussed this matter with several of her friends and relatives and they agree with her. Abby, I love my husband and want to do what is right for him. I am not lazy and would gladly go to work if he wanted me to. I don't want this matter brought up every time I see my mother. How can I put a stop to it?

IN THE MIDDLE

DEAR IN: Tell your mother that you have made your decision and if she mentions the subject again she will find herself talking to herself.

DEAR ABBY: My brother and I had an argument. He said that a person could have THREE sets of teeth, and I said a person can have only two sets. Who is right?

GISELA

DEAR GISELA: Nature installs about one and a half sets of choppers (the second is usually complete). After that the dentist takes over —and the sky's the limit.

DEAR ABBY: The daughter of a friend of ours was married last January. She and her husband moved to another city. I sent them a very nice wedding gift, but received no thank-you note for it. As there is always a possibility that it was not delivered, I telephoned the girl's mother, who lives in this city, and asked if she knew whether her daughter had ever received a gift from us. She said she was certain she had, because her daughter had commented on what a lovely and practical gift it was.

A few days later I received a very sharp note from the girl saying she did not appreciate my calling her mother to "report" her tardiness in acknowledging the gift, and that I should have written directly to HER if I had any doubts about whether it had been received. I have had a lump in my throat all day, Abby. I fear I have caused unhappiness and that was not my intention. Was I wrong to have called the girl's mother? My husband said I should write and ask you.

DEPRESSED

DEAR DEPRESSED: The girl was rude to have written such a note. Since you intended no mischief, your calling the girl's mother was understandable. However, when one sends a gift, the best procedure is to check with the store from which it was sent. They will have a record of the delivery.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MICHAEL IN HILLSBOROUGH:

There is no excuse for a man in his financial position to owe a bill for eleven months. Write him a note and tell him that friendship is friendship, but you have already carried him longer than his mother.

Jimmy Romps Over Tribe

L.A. Hits Harder Than Roommate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Kralick, punched in the mouth by roommate Gary Bell in Washington Sunday night, got even rougher treatment from the Los Angeles Angels.

The Angels knocked Kralick out of the box in the third inning Monday night and went on to romp to an 8-2 victory over the slumping Tribe.

Ex-Indian Jimmy Piersall did most of the damage, knocking in three runs with two doubles and a single.

Piersall, who has been swinging a hot bat with seven hits in his last 13 times at bat, led off with a first-inning single, moved around on a wild pitch and a bunt, and scored on a sacrifice fly.

He hit a double in the second inning to score two more runs, and another run-scoring double in the third.

The Angels came up with four runs altogether in the third as the Indians committed two errors and saw two runs score before a man was out.

The Indians scored in the second, when Hinton walked and Chico Salmon and Pedro Gonzalez singled. They scored again in the third on Max Alvis's single and Rocky Colavito's double.

After that, rookie southpaw Marcelino Lopez, a 21-year-old Cuban, allowed only one runner to get as far as second base.

Bell and Kralick told newsmen their brief battle in Washington developed after they had been out to dinner. They had been kidding each other and "one word was said and bam—Jack jumped up and swung. So I swung, too."

Kralick's left upper eye tooth was broken off at the gum line, the blow cutting the cheek clear through.

Kralick and Bell said their differences were patched up immediately and they remain good friends.

AAU Officials Begin Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — Any plan for ending the bitter row threatening athletes' careers and United States track and field fortunes remained a secret today as a Senate investigation of the feud entered a climactic phase.

There was no sign of a peace move from the Amateur Athletic Union as its top officials awaited their turn on the witness stand.

The Senate Commerce Committee is investigating a jurisdictional feud between AAU and the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The NCA gets its chance to testify Wednesday. It also has said nothing of any plans for restoring peace.

Bradds Escapes Injury in Crash

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — Gary Bradds, player for the Baltimore Bullets of the National Basketball Association, was shaken but unhurt in a traffic accident here Monday.

Bradds was driver of a city recreation department truck which crashed into a Baltimore & Ohio freight train. City police quoted the 23-year-old Bradds as saying he didn't see the train in time to stop.

CATFISH — Paul Congrove, Route 4, landed this 23-pound catfish on Darby Creek. He used a drop line to land the 37-inch specimen.

Grand American Round Has 5 Titles at Stake

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP) — Championships in five classes were at stake today as America's premier shooters continued their barrage in the 66th Grand American Trapshoot.

An introductory singles event Monday signaled the start of major action in the tournament. But there was no winner.

When dusk settled over the sprawling grounds, four marksmen were still breaking targets with monotonous regularity.

After 250 hits without a miss, officials called it quits and decided to let the shooters continue their assault in today's class events.

The four bidding for honors were James I. Columbo, 11, of Omaha, Neb.; former pro football player Dan Orlich, from Reno, Nev.; Gene Sears, El Reno, Okla., and C. E. Barnhart, the interior decorator from Kansas City, Mo., who was last year's over-all king.

There were individual winners in the event, however, including Laura Louise Mote, 16, of New Madison, Ohio, who needed a shooft before she could claim the ladies' crown. Miss Mote broke 197 of 200 to tie with two others but shattered 24 of 25 in the extra round.

Columbo's perfect 200 gave him the junior title while Cliff B. Doughman of Alton, Ill., nabbed professional laurels, also with a perfect 200.

Teen Player Dies

CAMERON, Tex. (AP)—Randy Knight, a 16-year-old football player, died Monday night after a workout of the Yoe High School squad.

Hospital officials said no football-related injury could be detected in first examinations.

Mason Rudolph of Lehigh Acres, Fla., made his best showing in the recent U.S. Open — his seventh. He shot 290 to tie for 11th place. He won $1,150.

Lema Talks to Himself for $35,000

SUTTON, Mass. (AP)—Champion Tony Lema gave himself a little lecture as he stood on the 16th green. Today he valued the speech at $35,000 for it helped him capture first prize in the $200,800 Carling World Golf Championship.

Lema withstood a patented charge by Arnold Palmer Monday to win the richest golf tournament, fashioning a 34-36-70 over the par 36-35-71 Pleasant Valley Country Club course.

Palmer, who had tied Lema as late as the 69th hole, blew the lead himself with bogeys on the 16th and 17th greens to wind up with a 34-35-69 and a second place total of 281.

Joe Campbell holed a 12-foot birdie putt on the 18th green taking third place with a 282, slipping past 53-year-old Sam Snead and U.S. Open champ Gary Player who had 283 totals.

New major league baseball parks will be opened in the next few years in St. Louis, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia. Next year Atlanta will have National League baseball with the Milwaukee Braves moving there.

The All-Stars were eliminated from the Circleville Tournament Sunday night when they were edged, 5-4, by the Clintonville Bears in a well-played game by both teams.

Sammy Wilson led the attack with a single and a double but Van Gregg accounted for the big blow of the game with a 3-run homer in the third. Brent Roof went all the way for Teays Valley.

PGA champion Dave Marr was a stroke further back with Homero Blancas, the third round coleader with Lema. Blancas, bothered by a bad back, ballooned to a 39-36-75.

Lema indicated he was feeling the pressure of Palmer's charge. "I was loose enough 'till I hit the greens," he said. "Then I could feel the pressure."

He said he was concerned until he heard that Palmer, playing in a threesome just ahead of him, had bogied the 17th hole. "I told myself then, 'you're a fool if you blow it now.'"

L.A. Hits Harder Than Roommate

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jack Kralick, punched in the mouth by roommate Gary Bell in Washington Sunday night, got even rougher treatment from the Los Angeles Angels.

The Angels knocked Kralick out of the box in the third inning Monday night and went on to romp to an 8-2 victory over the slumping Tribe.

Ex-Indian Jimmy Piersall did most of the damage, knocking in three runs with two doubles and a single.

Piersall, who has been swinging a hot bat with seven hits in his last 13 times at bat, led off with a first-inning single, moved around on a wild pitch and a bunt, and scored on a sacrifice fly.

He hit a double in the second inning to score two more runs, and another run-scoring double in the third.

The Angels came up with four runs altogether in the third as the Indians committed two errors and saw two runs score before a man was out.

The Indians scored in the second, when Hinton walked and Chico Salmon and Pedro Gonzalez singled. They scored again in the third on Max Alvis's single and Rocky Colavito's double.

After that, rookie southpaw Marcelino Lopez, a 21-year-old Cuban, allowed only one runner to get as far as second base.

Bell and Kralick told newsmen their brief battle in Washington developed after they had been out to dinner. They had been kidding each other and "one word was said and bam—Jack jumped up and swung. So I swung, too."

All Stars Win At Chillicothe

The Teays Valley Little League All-Stars traveled to Chillicothe Saturday to meet the Chillicothe Independent Merchants and came out victorious, 4-0, behind the two-hit pitching of Van Gregg who struck out 17 opponents.

The All-Stars managed only three singles, one each by Sammy Wilson, Van Gregg and Jeff Helsner. But they capitalized on the wildness of Danny Young who walked seven.

The All-Stars were eliminated from the Circleville Tournament Sunday night when they were edged, 5-4, by the Clintonville Bears in a well-played game by both teams.

Sammy Wilson led the attack with a single and a double but Van Gregg accounted for the big blow of the game with a 3-run homer in the third. Brent Roof went all the way for Teays Valley.

Falcons Have Ingredients To Capture Mid-Am Crown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Bowling Green, a team that has dominated the Mid-American Conference football picture since 1959, looks like a solid choice to win its second straight league crown.

The Falcons have a new athletic director and a new grid coach but the same old ingredients that sampt them as a power—size, depth and speed. Genial Doyt Perry has moved up as director of athletics leaving the field duties to one of his assistants, Bob Gibson.

And Gibson bemoans the fact that graduation took his halfbacks and quarterbacks. But there's still a potent interior line and four All-MAC selections among the 12 lettermen returning from last year's squad that piled up an impressive 9-1 record.

Heralded Stew Williams, a 240-pound fullback who chewed up enemy lines to the tune of 600 yards as a soph, may be moved to halfback to make room for another bull-like runner. He's rookie Tom Luetke, also a 240-pounder, who averaged 64 yards per crack as a freshman.

Rebuilding and inexperience are the theme song of the six other teams in the circuit with upstart Kent State given the best outside chance to take it all. Leo Strang, in his second year at Kent, exudes confidence. "We're a young team but have all the necessary ingredients other than experience," Strang said.

The Kent mentor, who made it big in the high school ranks, has a flock of highly-touted gridders from last year's unbeaten frosh squad to go with 12 lettermen.

Among the key returnees are Tom Clements, the team's leading runner, wingback Fred Gissendaner, the top pass receiver and Pat Gucciardo, an all-league cornerback.

Two other perennially tough schools, Miami and Ohio University, appear to have lost too much material to be challenging.

Miami has two strong runners in veterans Don Peddie and Joe Kozar but sensational quarterback Ernie Kellermann has departed. The Redskins probably will go to a ball control game.

Ohio has an outstanding fullback in junior Wash Lyons who led the MAC in rushing as a soph. But Lyons suffered two broken toes in a summer industrial mishap and may not be in top shape. All-conference defensive end Chuck Turner also is back but the Bobcats will sorely miss linemen John Frick, Don Hoover and Ron Fowlkes.

Marshall, which surprised by finishing in a tie for second place, has one of the league's top passers in Howie Miller and All-MAC center Tom Good. But Coach Charlie Snyder faces the problem of finding replacements for 17 lettermen, eight of whom started on defense.

Toledo has no one to replace steady Dan Simrell at quarterback and banks on 35 sophs to improve a 2-8 record. Guard Steve Erickson is one of the best in the league and soph halfback Pete Kramer is one to watch.

Western Michigan has lost quarterback Troy Allen and lacks speed in the backfield. But the Broncos should be strong defensively, particularly with star end Ken Moon back again.

Marichal's Suspension Hurts Pennant Chances

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An apologetic Juan Marichal, ace of the San Francisco Giants' pitching staff, is out of action until Sept. 1 and out of pocket $1,750 for hitting Los Angeles catcher John Roseboro over the head with a bat.

And the Giants might be out of a pennant.

The fine — highest ever levied by either major league — and eight-day suspension were announced Monday.

National League President Warren Giles called Marichal's action in Sunday's game at San Francisco "unprovoked," "obnoxious" and "repugnant."

"It was the toughest decision I've had to make in the 14 years I've been league president, because the pennant is at stake," Giles said.

Marichal said in the dressing room before the Giants' 6-2 loss to Pittsburgh Monday night, "I'm sorry I hit him with the bat and I want to apologize for that."

Giants Manager Herman Franks said he thought the league's action against his 19-game winner "was a little too quick."

Before the suspension was announced, Franks had said the loss of Marichal for any period "would murder the club" in its fight for the pennant. Marichal will miss at least two turns and his loss will disrupt the Giants' pitching rotation.

In telling his side of the story for the first time, Marichal said:

"The second pitch (from Sandy Koufax) was in tight. Roseboro dropped it on purpose so he could get close to me. He threw it back to the pitcher faster than I've ever seen a catcher throw it back. His throw nicked me on the ear.

"I turned around and looked down at him and asked, 'why did you do that?'"

"He took his mask off, held it in his hand and started to ward me.

"I thought he was going to get me. I didn't want to get hit with the mask and that's when I hit him with the bat."

Meanwhile in New York, the Dodgers bitterly denounced Giles' ruling, charging it was "much too lenient."

"Marichal should have been suspended at least for the rest of the season," said outfielder Wally Moon, the Dodgers' player representative.

"The very nature of the act warrants the stiffest suspension possible. There should be an automatic rule calling for a year's suspension of any player hitting another with a baseball bat."

Outfielder Ron Fairly was even more caustic of Giles' levy.

"Marichal should have been barred from baseball for life," declared Fairly. "There should be no room in baseball for a player who deliberately tries to maim another with a baseball bat. If that had happened in the street, Marichal would have been arrested and thrown into jail."

Hardly anyone spoke of the game at Shea Stadium in which the Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 8-4 retaining their one-half game lead over the Milwaukee Braves.

Roseboro, the victim of Marichal's unwarranted act, appeared the least concerned. The soft-spoken catcher sat out the game mainly because New York started a left-handed pitcher. A patch covered a two-inch gash inflicted by Marichal's bat.

"I feel all right," he said. "I had a slight headache Sunday night, but it has gone away. I could have played. I'd just as soon forget what happened."

"I'm no fighter. I don't like to fight. I don't remember the last time I ever fought anybody. It must have been while I was in high school."

Giants Drop To 3rd Place

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The San Francisco Giants started the day on the wrong side of Warren Giles and finished it on the wrong side of Vern Law.

Law, Pittsburgh's hard-throwing Mormon elder, tumbled the Giants into third place in the tight National League pennant race Monday night by taming them 6-2 with a six-hitter.

The Giants barely had begun to miss Juan Marichal, slapped with a $1,750 fine and eight-game suspension by NL President Giles for his bat-swinging tantrum in San Francisco the day before, when Law collared them for the fourth time in four tries this year.

The Pirates handed Warren Spahn his 15th loss as Roberto Clemente and Gene Alley each rapped four hits, Clemente boosting his league-leading batting figure to .340.

San Francisco dropped 1½ games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who whipped New York 8-4, and one game behind the Milwaukee Braves, who regained the second spot with a 7-6 victory over Cincinnati. In the other game scheduled, St. Louis trounced the Chicago Cubs 10-2.

Minnesota's American League leaders clipped the New York Yankees 4-3 in 10 innings and Baltimore edged Chicago 2-1 in 12, snapping the White Sox' winning streak at 10. Kansas City topped Detroit 4-3 and Los Angeles trimmed Cleveland 8-2.

Oakland Coach Not Optimistic

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (AP) — If you want to find out the Oakland Raiders' title chances in the American Football League's Western Division, you don't ask coach and general manager Al Davis.

The way he talks the Raiders are all set to finish fifth in the four-team race.

Meanwhile, everyone else talks about Oakland, for Davis has built a strong team, has a solid rookie crop to bolster some of his weaker spots, and has a club that receives tremendous respect throughout the league.

Davis also tells you the draft of collegians is overrated but he doesn't tell you he has signed his first five selections, including three of the most highly regarded rookies in the league — tackle Bob Stivers of Southern California, guard Harry Schuh of Memphis State and flanker Fred Biletnikoff of Florida State.

Biletnikoff could be a key figure for the Raiders, combining with Art Powell at split end, to give Oakland a 1-2 receiving punch that could be as good as any in the league. And there's power running in the backfield with Clem Daniels and Billy Cannon along with Alan Miller and Bob Jackson.

The quarterbacking duties fall to Cotton Davidson and Tom Flores, statistically the best 1-2 punch in the league with over 4,000 yards gained in the air last season.

The main targets will be Powell, who grabbed 76 passes for 1,361 yards last season; Biletnikoff, if he can beat out holdover Bo Roberson, and tight end Ken Herock.

Schuh and Stivers will be in the battle for offensive line spots, most likely at tackle. The holdovers are all-league Jim Otto at center, Bob Mischak and Wayne Hawkins at the guard spots and Ken Rice at tackle.

The Raiders also are expected to get help in the defensive line with rookie Gus Otto from Missouri a threat at linebacker. And rookie defensive backs Kent McCloughan from Nebraska and Larry Todd from Arizona State are expected to help in the defensive secondary.

Todd figures right behind all-league choice Dave Grayson at one corner with McCloughan battling Warren Powers at the other. Joe Krakoski and Claude Gibson are the safeties.

The front four consists of Ben Davidson and Dalva Allen at end and Dave Costa and Dan Birdwell at the tackles. Arch Matsos heads a linebacking crew that also includes J. R. Williamson, Clancy Osborne, Dan Connors and Bill Budness along with rookies Otto and Dick Hermann, a sleeper from Florida State.

Marichal's Suspension Hurts Pennant Chances

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An apologetic Juan Marichal, ace of the San Francisco Giants' pitching staff, is out of action until Sept. 1 and out of pocket $1,750 for hitting Los Angeles

catcher John Roseboro over the head with a bat.

And the Giants might be out of a pennant.

The fine — highest ever levied by either major league — and eight-day suspension were announced Monday.

National League President Warren Giles called Marichal's action in Sunday's game at San Francisco "unprovoked," "obnoxious" and "repugnant."

"It was the toughest decision I've had to make in the 14 years I've been league president, because the pennant is at stake," Giles said.

Marichal said in the dressing room before the Giants' 6-2 loss to Pittsburgh Monday night, "I'm sorry I hit him with the bat and I want to apologize for that."

Giants Manager Herman Franks said he thought the league's action against his 19-game winner "was a little too quick."

Before the suspension was announced, Franks had said the loss of Marichal for any period "would murder the club" in its fight for the pennant. Marichal will miss at least two turns and his loss will disrupt the Giants' pitching rotation.

In telling his side of the story for the first time, Marichal said:

"The second pitch (from Sandy Koufax) was in tight. Roseboro dropped it on purpose so he could get close to me. He threw it back to the pitcher faster than I've ever seen a catcher throw it back. His throw nicked me on the ear."

"I turned around and looked down at him and asked, 'why did you do that?'"

"He took his mask off, held it in his hand and started to ward me."

"I thought he was going to get me. I didn't want to get hit with the mask and that's when I hit him with the bat."

Meanwhile in New York, the Dodgers bitterly denounced Giles' ruling, charging it was "much too lenient."

"Marichal should have been suspended at least for the rest of the season," said outfielder Wally Moon, the Dodgers' player representative.

"The very nature of the act warrants the stiffest suspension possible. There should be an automatic rule calling for a year's suspension of any player hitting another with a baseball bat."

Outfielder Ron Fairly was even more caustic of Giles' levy.

"Marichal should have been barred from baseball for life," declared Fairly. "There should be no room in baseball for a player who deliberately tries to maim another with a baseball bat. If that had happened in the street, Marichal would have been arrested and thrown into jail."

Hardly anyone spoke of the game at Shea Stadium in which the Dodgers defeated the New York Mets 8-4 retaining their one-half game lead over the Milwaukee Braves.

Roseboro, the victim of Marichal's unwarranted act, appeared the least concerned. The soft-spoken catcher sat out the game mainly because New York started a left-handed pitcher. A patch covered a two-inch gash inflicted by Marichal's bat.

"I feel all right," he said. "I had a slight headache Sunday night, but it has gone away. I could have played. I'd just as soon forget what happened."

Parties Engage In White Paper One-Upmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle of the Viet Nam "white papers" was joined today with the Johnson administration beating Republicans to the punch.

Last week House GOP leaders passed word they were issuing a white paper this Wednesday as a rebuttal to President Johnson's statements he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to South Viet Nam in 1954.

But even as the Republicans were still stapling their manifesto together Monday, the White House was announcing distribution of a 27-page pamphlet called "Why Viet Nam," packed with speeches, letters and other documents.

The first section, entitled "The Roots of Commitment," focuses on three letters from Eisenhower and notes:

"In letters to Prime Minister Churchill in 1954 and to President Diem (of South Viet Nam) in 1954 and 1960, President Eisenhower describes the issues at stake and pledges United States assistance in South Viet Nam's resistance to subversion and aggression."

A White House spokesman said Eisenhower had been informed last week of the outline and papers to be used in "Why Viet Nam."

Rep. Charles E. Goodell of New York, chairman of the House Republican Planning and Research Committee which is turning out the Republican tract, didn't seem to mind the administration stealing some of the GOP thunder.

He said he hadn't seen "Why Viet Nam," but understood it to be "a valuable compilation of documents. Ours is interpretive. It puts them in perspective."

But there is still more thunder to be lost.

To unveil their "white paper" the House Republican leaders announced Monday they would hold a news conference Wednesday.

The White House announced Monday the President probably will hold a news conference Wednesday.

Despite the political currents, with congressional campaigning only a year away, the dispute has some of the atmosphere of an argument by historians.

For instance the title of the GOP paper sounds more academic than militant. It will be called, "Viet Nam: Some Neglected Aspects of the Historical Records."

The House Republicans certainly felt they had more than the makings of an academic dispute. After a meeting with GOP congressional leaders in Washington last Tuesday, Eisenhower remarked that his commitment to Viet Nam had not been military but economic.

The House leaders — who don't object to U.S. actions in Viet Nam, just to Johnson saying he is carrying out an Eisenhower commitment — then let it be known they had a white paper in the works.

But two days later Eisenhower took much of the steam out of the issue. He announced at a GOP gathering at his Gettysburg farm that he supported Johnson and that his commitment to Viet Nam was made a decade ago, when the situation was entirely different there.

Peace Marches Affect Morale

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — An Army sergeant who escaped from Viet Cong captivity says peace marches protesting American involvement in Viet Nam are hurting the morale of U.S. troops.

Sgt. I. C. Isaac Camacho said he is disgusted with protest actions of "some Americans" against President Johnson's commitment in Viet Nam.

"These people are very disheartening to the troops who are facing death over there today," said Camacho, 28, who reached American lines July 13 after fleeing the Viet Cong.

"This only makes matters worse for the American people," he said. "The President has more important things to cope with than those protests."

Camacho, a 10-year Army veteran, was the first American to successfully escape from the guerrilla forces.

"They treated you good sometimes, and sometimes bad," the laconic Camacho said Monday in an interview.

Camacho said "good" treatment by the Viet Cong included three meals of rice daily, supplemented occasionally by monkey, elephant or snake meat and wild roots.

This diet, he said, was about what the guerrillas ate.

Bad treatment consisted of forceful interrogations and "brain washing," the career serviceman said. He said he was not beaten.

Camacho's cell was in a wooden hut hidden in the jungle of South Viet Nam. He said he saw little of actual guerrilla operations.

Camacho was wounded and captured Nov. 25, 1963 when several hundred Viet Cong overran a camp 25 miles northwest of Saigon. His head wounded was treated by his captors, he said.

He said the Viet Cong provided medication if it was available and issued their prisoners blankets, clothing and mosquito nets.

Fumes Cause Evacuations

EAST BRUNSWICK, N.J. (AP)—Some 3,000 persons were evacuated from their homes early today when dangerous chemical fumes blanketed a four-square-mile area after a general alarm fire broke out at a chemical plant.

Police said oxygen was administered to 300 persons who inhaled the fumes. No serious injuries were reported.

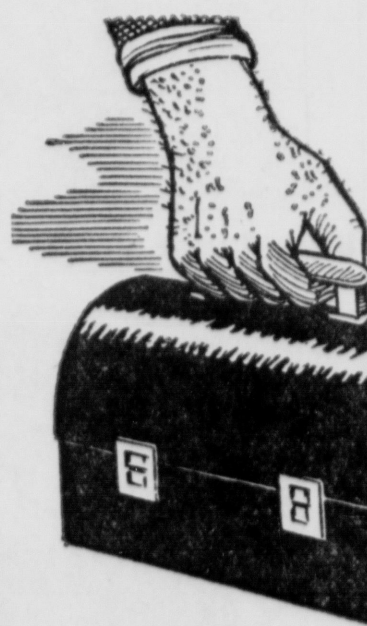

Police and firemen pounded on doors and used loudspeakers to rouse the residents. The residents were sheltered in schools and fire houses throughout the city.

They returned home nearly 4½ hours after they were evacuated.

The fire began in a small storage trailer containing organic peroxide, used in making plastics. The trailer was located behind the plant of the Chemirad Company. Cause of the fire was undetermined. The blaze was confined to the trailer.

Great Britain's traditional 21-gun salute came about because early British men-of-war fired seven guns; while forts on shore replied with three times as many guns since powder held up better on dry land.

Parties Engage In White Paper One-Upmanship

WASHINGTON (AP) — The battle of the Viet Nam "white papers" was joined today with the Johnson administration beating Republicans to the punch.

Last week House GOP leaders passed word they were issuing a white paper this Wednesday as a rebuttal to President Johnson's statements he is carrying out a commitment former President Dwight D. Eisenhower made to South Viet Nam in 1954.
